Hunting in Colorado.

Charles Utter, a mountain guide and trapper, who resides in this place has just concluded a three months' hunt, the result of which may interest sporting men. In the time mentioned he, with the assistance of two others, killed one hundred elk, one hundred and forty antelope and three hundred and nine deer. His field of operations was the Middle Park, and his main camp on Grand river, below the canyon, at the upper end of which the hot springs are located. The game was disposed of at Laramie, on the Union Pacific Railroad, at Central City, Black Hawk and Georgetown. No count was kept of small game, such as grouse, sage-hens, jack-rabbits, ducks and geese. Not a single bear was killed or seen. One came to the camp one night and tore down a side of elk meat, but got away without being hurt. The heads and skins of the animals are now at the camp, on Grand river, and a party of men are at work there dressing them, and Mr. Utter expects to realize more from them than he did from the meat. About the 22d of September the party was overtaken by a terrible snow storm which caused the loss of four mules. They were compelled to leave the stock and return for them after the storm was over. Plenty of bison were seen, but none were killed, as the meat is not salable here. The prices which have been paid for meat in the border towns make this hunt not very profitable after all. Game is so common in this market that it is no longer considered a delicacy, particularly since Utter sent us a thousand pounds of trout and a wagon load of ducks, besides the larger game. The Middle Park is now a splendid hunting ground, but a few more hunts such as the above described will soon frighten the game away.—Georgetown (Col.) News.

Mr. Gladstone.

Loving air and exercise, says the World, Mr. Gladstone is a singularly temperate man in his meat and drink. Still he is only abstemious, not ascetic. A glass or two of claret at dinner, and sometimes a glass of port, that nectar of orators, satisfy his very moderate requirements for stimulants. For the information of intended orators, it may be well to add that a single egg, newly laid, beaten up in sherry and secured in a tiny glass jar, is the fortifier with which he supplies himself when about to make one of his great speeches of three or four hours duration. As a wood-cutter, so little does the lord of the soil look like himself that he has often been accosted by "practical" hands, and received, meekly, as is his wont, a lesson from them, the practical hand remaining all the time ignorant of the man he was addressing. In his moments of mental and physical relaxation, the champion of amateur woodmen vanishes in the genial host, whose high spirits break out at every moment. Among all the country around Hawarden Mr. Gladstone is as popular as a few grumbling farmers, who complain that there are too many clowns in their agreements being perhaps excepted. His frank and free manner, the liberal style in which he opens his beautiful park to the public, and the keen interest he displays in all local improvements, have made him one of the best-loved of English celebrities.

OUR INDUSTRIAL WONDERS.

When one glances at some of the industrial achievements of the country, the conclusion is irresistibly arrived at, that the United States is a big country—big in the creation and development of all the elements of a great and increasing material prosperity, showing remarkable illustrations of national character and appetencies. There are figures that daze in this respect, and in this Centennial year it is proper to present some of them. For instance, in 1875, according to one authority, there was not less than 154,767,000 pounds of domestic wool manufactured into various kinds of goods, employing nearly 100,000 hands, and the wages paid to the operatives amounted in round numbers to $25,000,000, the capital invested being about $100,000,000, while the combined power necessary to the realization of this branch of operative industry is equal to the applied force of 95,000 horses, capable of carding 357,500 pounds of wool per day. Yet there was not a machinery-made woolen shirt in the American camp during the Revolution.

In the matter of cotton manufactures, one hundred years after the declaration of American independence, in 1875-6, not less than 1,722,000,000 yards of cotton goods, including 726,000,000 yards of sheeting, 247,000,000 yards of twilled goods, and 740,000,000 yards of prints were produced in the United States, 2,242,080 bales of raw cotton were consumed, being manipulated by 185,000 looms and 100,000 spindles, giving employment to fully 135,000 persons, whose wages amounted to $35,000,000 annually, the capital necessary to realize this approximating $140,000,000, and the value of all products about $175,000,000. Were we inclined to indulge in geographical estimates of the production of this branch of operative industry, the yards of sheeting, twilled and print goods produced in the year lying in the doorway of the centennial year would be sufficient, if put into one piece, to encircle the earth at the equator over thirty-nine times, beginning at a given point, with enough left over to stretch from Boston to the city of San Francisco, on the Pacific Coast, its end swathing around in the waters of the Golden Gate. This queer illustration may be regarded as a stretch of the imagination by some of our readers, but it is not only apt, but typical of the long drawn out production of the spinning spindles and looms of the nation's 900 or more cotton mills in this, the centennial year of our history.

Touching the improved resources of the people, contrasted with a hundred years ago, when the American army suffered in camp for the want of shirts shoes, etc., a feature of our operative industry as it exists to-day shows that in the matter of clothing that the overcoats supplied to the soldiers of the late war numbered 2,218,917, a quantity that would have been sufficient to obstruct the army movements under Gen. Washington, and nearly enough to provide an overcoat to one-third of the voters in the United States to-day. In fact the people are better clothed to-day than were the Kings of the world two hundred years ago.

The industrial wonders of a single State, too, are really wonderful in this Centennial year. Massachusetts and Pennsylvania excel in manufactures. New York and Illinois make astonishing exhibits in agriculture, but it has remained for California to cap the climax in the production of the necessities of life. That State, settled only twenty-seven years ago, is already competing with the vast empire of Russia in wheat. The most careful estimates set down the wheat crop of last year at 1,000,000 tons, 700,000 tons of which will be available for export.

LOVE IN THE OLDEN TIME.—Chas. W. Elliott, in a lecture delivered in Boston lately, paid a glowing tribute to the women who, in the face of the numberless dangers which threatened the Puritans, dared to follow their lovers and their husbands into the trackless wilderness. They worked and suffered, thinking little of the luxuries which might have been theirs had they lingered on the other side of the water. They desired no "sphere," and were contented—nay, happy—in knowing that they could comfort their husbands and help sustain the privations and hardships of a pioneer's life. At that time the men were the dandies and the women dressed plainly. Marriage was brought about by contract, no spinster was allowed to live in the colony and, and no man could make love to a woman without the consent of the parents.

The official report of deaths in New York for 1876, up to last Saturday, shows them to be 28,658, or about 1,500 less than in 1875. July, as usual, was the deadliest month, and August followed next, while the month of December was of low average.

An exchange displays a huge rooster at the head of its columns, and places beneath it the words "Our next President."

NOTICE.

NEWS OF THE MORNING.

The President expresses the opinion that in case of no declaration of the result of the Presidential election before the 4th of March the President of the United States will become President of the United States, and will be recognized by the Cabinet. This he believes will be in accordance with the Act of 1792. If this is not a proper interpretation of the law then there would be an interregnum.

Governor Stanford, of California, has purchased the young stallion Benton. It is said he paid $15,000 for the horse. Benton has a record of 2:30 1/4.

No one was injured by the fall of the Grand Central depot roof in New York day before yesterday, but a number of street cars were damaged and car horses cut by glass.

It is said that the Sultan has resolved, if no agreement is reached by February 28th, to re-commence hostilities against Serbia.

General Thomas H. Williams leaves on Monday morning for New York, whence he will sail about the 25th instant for Europe.

A San Francisco dispatch says the weather was clear and cold there yesterday morning, with the wind still in the north and quite fresh. Similar weather was reported from the northern part of the State. The same was true of the central portion as far south as Modesto. At Visalia it was cloudy with indications of rain. There was a drizzling rain at Los Angeles, and there was a heavy rain there and at San Diego night before last.

The Senate Committee has agreed upon the manner of the count. The concurrence of both Houses will be required to reject any vote. Other differences are to be settled by a Commission.

The situation in Louisiana is unchanged.

THE DARIEN SHIP CANAL.

The commissioners appointed by the Government to examine into the feasibility of building a ship canal between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans, unanimously decide in favor of the Nicaragua route, and estimate the cost at $100,000,000. This is a vast enterprise, and one that promises great advantages to the commerce of the world. But it is too big a job for one nation to attempt; and hence President Grant is wise in appealing to foreign powers for cooperation. Great Britain, next to the United States, would be immensely benefited by this proposed canal, and should be the first to subscribe to this great enterprise. France, under Napoleon III., built the Suez canal without outside aid; but no single nation will construct this Darien canal. If ever built, it will be through a combination of the commercial powers.

WATER FOR THE GREAT CITY.—Major Mendell, chief of the corps of engineers of the San Francisco Water Commission, has submitted his estimates of the cost of procuring a supply of 100,000,000 gallons daily from the Sierras. Four lines were surveyed and four sources examined, namely: Lake Tahoe, South Yuba, El Dorado and the Blue Lakes—but no estimate was made of Clear Lake or of Mount Gregory. It is thought the Blue Lake project will be recommended. The reservoir of that plan will be near Ione.

The Centennial address delivered by Gen. Thomas H. Williams of Nevada, in the Judges' Hall, Philadelphia, has been published in San Francisco in pamphlet form. The Stock Exchange says it is an elaborate treatise on the financial, mineral, moral, and agricultural condition of the State of Nevada, and is a flattering tribute to the energy and progress of her people.

The Reno Journal favors the passage of the freight and fare bill introduced by O. H. Grey. Unhappily your purse strings, Mr. Stanford, or you are a goner.

Wrong again Mr. Carson Tribune. When there is any "blackmailing" to be done you are the proper party.

A NEW DAILY AT WARD.—The Pioche Record is going to be transferred from Pioche to Ward district.

Take a Hand in the Gamblers' Warfare and Demand the Police Commissioners to Perform Their Duty—Recently Organized Democratic Governors on the Situation—No Progress by the Committee—Depositions Confirmed—Blazing and Cold Weather.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 6, '77.

The President, by his peremptory demand on the members of the Board of Police Commissioners for their immediate resignation, has still further enhanced his popularity with the moral and law-abiding element of not only this District, but the country over. The immediate provocation of this act on his part were the revelations of inefficiency, and as many hold positive sympathy with the nest of rascals who have been allowed to ply their infamous vocation of

GAMBLING

Unmolested, under the very noses of these indolent officials for years past, until it had come to be regarded as a legitimate business pursuit, undermining the whole social fabric of our city and country. The members of the fraternity who have become insolent and defiant towards anyone daring to remonstrate against the privileges accorded them by District officers, have been on the "ragged edge" since the opening of the warfare upon them by one of our morning dailies, are now in utter despair, and the feeling of consternation permeating police circles since the President's purposes were made known, is almost universal. His reputation for firmness is so well established and his indisposition to look back, after once putting his hand to the plough, so well known, that all negligent and temporizing officials regard his edict of the 5th as the forerunner of the termination of their official lives; and all the people say, amen.

TOO SURE BY HALF.

The observation has been frequently heard about town since the 1st instant that Democratic Governors of several States who assumed the duties of office on that date, could have made their inaugural addresses quite as impressive, and their own patriotism more conspicuous with the mass of American citizens and interested foreign spectators of the workings of our institutions, had they devoted some portions thereof given up to a repetition relative to Radical corruption, dishonest Returning Boards and Tilden's great popular majority, to Democratic murders and terrorism throughout the South, false naturalization and registration in Northern communities and the Tammany tricks attempted in Vermont, Wisconsin, Nebraska and Oregon.

All reports sent away from this city, professing to give conclusions arrived at by either Senate or House committee appointed under the McCrary resolution to devise a satisfactory method of counting and declaring the

ELECTIONAL VOTE

May, for the present be set down as pure inventions. Very little progress has been made up to date, and it is believed no definite plan is likely to be agreed to till formal reports of the committees still in the South have been made, or at least until all the facts of which they have come in possession are known. There is no question that the feeling among Republicans is of a much more

SUBTANT DESCRIPTION

Since the decision of the House Committee sent to South Carolina has been made public. The indisposition of the Florida Supreme Court to meddle in the matter of the Hayes electors; the confident tone of the President in a late conversation relative to the final character of the decision of the Returning Board of Louisiana, and the sound logic expressed by Mr. Wheeler in New York a few days ago, have all contributed to the improvement notes. On the other hand a marked depression among Democrats has taken the place of the confident predictions of a week ago, and they begin to discuss a "new election" as among the probabilities. It is now rumored that the great reformer himself is coming to make us a visit for the purpose of stiffening up his adherents. All talk of "war" has subsided so far as public demonstrations go. We are indulging in a

SLEIGHING CARNIVAL.

On Thursday and to-day Pennsylvania Avenue was crowded with every sort of vehicle on runners, from the stylish cutter and the four-in-hand to the hastily improvised crate or dry goods box on runners, drawn by a lean cart horse. Many of the revelers were in masks, and almost every imaginable character was represented. The weather continues cold and the snow of New Year's day shows no disposition to thaw.

An Eastern paper relates the annexed account of a great snow storm which visited the Eastern States last week. It says:

The snow storm which visited the country on Monday was not only the severest of the season, but the heaviest in the New England States for many years. It was also of wide extent, reaching from the Gulf States to the Great Lakes, and from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic seaboard. It began in Louisiana on Sunday night, where it deposited an unusual depth of snow, traveled northward at an average rate of twenty-seven or thirty miles per hour, and probably left a larger body of snow in its track than any other storm within the memory of middle-aged people. The Signal Service announces that the center of the storm was probably five hundred miles out at sea—east of the Atlantic coast. It was a national storm, visiting all sections alike. In this section we judge there is full two feet of snow on a level.

One of the furnaces at the Eureka Consolidated mine was started on the 31. On the 6th level 8 feet of fine ore has been struck, with favorable prospects on the 9th level. The shares in this mine were quite depressed throughout the past year, generally selling from $10 to $12, and never above $17. Within the past two weeks, under favorable reports from the mine, the stock has been improving, having been advanced from $14 on the 1st instant to $16 yesterday, with considerable activity during the interval.

THE COMSTOCK.—From the weekly report of the Enterprise, we clip the annexed account of the present condition and future outlook of the Comstock:

We have only to say that there is nothing in the condition of the mines to warrant such a drop in mining stocks as we have lately experienced and are still laboring under. The outlook is rather encouraging than otherwise. The work of preparation for increasing the amount of ore to be hoisted from the big bonanza is going on very rapidly, considering its magnitude. On the surface everything is in readiness, and when the work in the depths is completed the facilities will increase the hoisting capacity to 2,000 tons per day. This of course will not at all be needed for handling ore, but it can be used to the extent required and at the same time the shaft can be sunk, other drifts and crosscuts can be run and the general work of development go on.

The Gould and Curry is also again ready to commence explorations in the depths. Some excellent indications were encountered on the 1700-foot level before the delay necessary to make improvements above and below became necessary. These indications can now be followed out and their value ascertained. The whole mine, including shaft and works, has not been in as good condition for years as to present. The work of freeing the Savage and Hale and Norcross from water is being delayed a little to secure necessary ventilation; but these mines will soon be ready to resume prospecting, and they, too, have the best of indications on the lower levels. Overman is also again ready to go on with her work, and the whole situation is full of encouragement.

Besides all this and the developments at the Bullion, Consolidated Imperial, Yellow Jacket, Justice and other mines on the Comstock proper, there are a number of what are called outside mines which are worthy of attention, and which would receive it on any other state of the market than one at extreme depression. All these developments tend to better the general situation and should be considered in looking toward the future.

"Cat-Hopped."

A young man of rural appearance walked into one of the fashionable gambling saloons of Gold Hill last Saturday, and taking possession of a stool looked on at the game with all the interest of a man who was betting. The dealer finally noticed him, and remembered him as a timberman from Lake Tahoe. As is a common custom with many, this lumberman works all Summer at the lake, and comes to the Comstock to spend the Winter. Hitherto he had made it a practice to lose his earnings during the first few days and then loaf around town until Spring in a chronic state of impecuniosity. Calling to mind this characteristic of his guest the dealer said:

"Well, young feller, it's the last turn: copper, call an' bet."

"No, thank you," quietly replied the young man from the country.

"What's the matter?" queried the Knight of the Silver Box. "Yer junder gamble some, if I remember."

"Yes, I know I did," was the response.

"Then why don't you come down now? It's a 'cat-hop,' and yer've got an even chance to guess yer lugget."

"Well, you see," said the young man, "I wore a linen duster all last Winter. It don't go with me any more."—G. H. News.

The Prospect Mining Company have levied an assessment of 25c per share, delinquent February 9th. The stock is selling at 30c.

The Sacramento Jockey Club held a meeting last night, says the Bea of the 13th, for the purpose of adopting a speed programme for the Spring meeting, which begins April 17th, but the committee was not prepared to report. It was then decided to give a purse of $5,000 for a great four-mile and repeat race at Agricultural Park on Saturday, the 19th of May, entries to close on February 17th. The first horse is to get $2,750, the second, $1,000, the third $700, and the fourth $500. The owners of thoroughbreds have already signified a willingness to engage in the contest and the list will probably embrace seven or eight of the finest animals on the coast. There is no doubt but this meeting will be the greatest ever held here, and for many reasons. In the first place owners of fast horses are anxious to test their speed on the Sacramento track, which is pronounced as the fastest in the world, and those who have seen the great four-mile races at the Bay are anxious to contrast the running of the horses here with their efforts there. Again, the climate and central location of Sacramento and its complete railroad and steamboat facilities would insure a large attendance and a pleasant time for all who come here. The Virginia City people can arrive here by the morning train and return by the night train. San Francisco, also, need not lose but one working day. Those who are best acquainted with the resources for making this great race a success express the utmost confidence in the result. C. Green, Robert Beck and H. M. Bernard were appointed a committee to make further arrangements and report concerning the four-mile race.

THE WEEKLY JOURNAL.

The WEEKLY JOURNAL, published every Saturday, will be furnished to those desiring it at $1.00 per year in advance. It will contain the local news of the week, a careful summary of the State, Pacific Coast and mining news, together with a variety of miscellaneous and editorial matter, containing more reading than any weekly paper ever published in the county. Those desiring to subscribe for the WEEKLY JOURNAL will please call at the publication office.

ADVERTISING MEDIUM.—The advertising columns of the JOURNAL afford an excellent opportunity to our readers to study out where purchases of all kinds can be made on the most advantageous terms. All classes of goods can there be found advertised from a suit of clothes or nice silk dress to the daintiest ornament in the jewelry line. The JOURNAL reaches nearly every family as well as business house in the county, and, therefore, advertisers seek its columns that the public may know what they have for sale.

PAY NOW.—The close of the year is at hand, and the Publisher of the JOURNAL has waited one or more years for the great majority of his subscribers. He now asks them to pay their arrearages without delay. We are now sending bills to mail subscribers. As soon as received please remit the amount at once.

JOB PRINTING.—This office has every facility for doing all kinds of job printing. And inasmuch as all home industries should have the preference over all others, we should be pleased to receive orders at any time for that class of work.
